“Iron Sharpens Iron”

“Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend.” — Proverbs 27:17

God never intended Christians to walk the road to heaven alone. We need the encouragement, wisdom, and loving correction of faithful brothers and sisters in Christ. Just as iron sharpens iron, our relationships can help us become stronger servants of the Lord.

We sharpen one another through loving correction. A true friend cares enough to speak when we are heading in the wrong direction. Proverbs 27:6 reminds us that the wounds of a friend are faithful. Such correction should never become an excuse for harshness or pride. When a Christian falls into sin, those who are spiritual must seek to restore that person with meekness, remembering their own vulnerability to temptation (Galatians 6:1). Our purpose is restoration, and our standard is God’s Word.

We sharpen one another through encouragement. Life can leave us weary, discouraged, and spiritually distracted. A thoughtful conversation, a sincere prayer, or a timely Scripture can help someone keep going. Hebrews 3:13 instructs Christians to exhort one another daily so that sin does not harden their hearts. Encouragement is more than making someone feel better; it helps that person remain faithful to God.

We sharpen one another through faithful example. Our conduct influences those around us. When we worship consistently, speak truthfully, serve willingly, and endure difficulties with faith, we encourage others to do the same. Hebrews 10:24–25 calls us to consider one another, stir up love and good works, and remain faithful in assembling together. The assembly gives us opportunities both to receive encouragement and to offer it.

Sharpening also requires a willingness to be sharpened. Do we listen when someone offers biblical counsel? Are we humble enough to acknowledge a fault? Do we seek friendships that strengthen our commitment to Christ? A teachable heart welcomes help that brings it closer to the Lord.

Iron sharpens iron when there is contact. Let us stay close enough to one another to help each other grow, and close enough to God’s Word to grow in the right direction.
