“A Season has Passed and Many are Not Saved”

“The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved. -Jer. 8:20

Harvest and summer were seasons of opportunity. If the harvest passed without gathering the crops, the opportunity was lost. Jeremiah used this familiar picture to describe Judah's spiritual condition. The people had expected peace and deliverance, but none came because they refused to return to God. Judah's actions remind us of several important truths.

Opportunities Do Not Last Forever. God is patient and merciful, but we must never mistake His patience for permission to continue in sin. Every sermon we hear, every Bible lesson we study, and every day God gives us is another opportunity to obey Him. Paul wrote: “Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation” (2 Corinthians 6:2). Many intend to become Christians “someday.” Others plan to repent, restore their faithfulness, forgive someone, or become more involved in the Lord's work—eventually. But “someday” is not promised.

Good Intentions Cannot Save Us. Judah trusted in false assurances while refusing to change. Likewise, merely intending to obey God is not the same as obeying Him. Agrippa told Paul, “You almost persuade me to become a Christian” (Acts 26:28). Almost persuaded is still lost. Knowing the truth without acting upon it cannot save us.

Delayed Obedience Is Dangerous. We do not know how much time remains. Life is uncertain, death is unavoidable, and Christ's return could occur at any time. James describes life as “a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away” (James 4:14).

If we continue delaying, we may one day discover that our opportunity has passed. The saddest words we could ever speak would be, “The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved.
